

This is a day for getting acquainted. By asking and answering in Latin, learn the names of your partners in this enterprise of learning Latin.

The language you are learning is called Classical Latin. It is the language spoken by politicians, doctors, and scientists for over a thousand years.

–Salvēte, amīcī.

–Salvē, amīce, salvē amīca

–cognoscimus quōsque?

–cognoscāmus quōsque.

I cognoscimus

I cognoscāmus

Endings are important. Listen for them.

–nōmen mihi _____ est.

–quid est nōmen tibi? dīc mihi: quid est nōmen tibi?

<bene>

–quid est nōmen eī? dīc mihi. dīc nōbīs.

–scīs?

–nōn sciō.”

–rōgāte: “amīce aut amīca, quid est nōmen tibi?”

Homework: Meet or telephone a classmate and have a conversation in Classical Latin, or teach someone who does not know Classical Latin what you learned today.